Dr. Babikir Abdelhamid

Dr Babikir Abdelhamid was a junior doctor at Ahmed Gasim Hospital in Khartoum-Bahri and was shot dead on 17/1/2019. Although the specific circumstances around his death remain unclear, he reportedly was trying to urge the former regime security forces to retreat from the house where injured protesters were being treated in the neighbourhood of Burri . He became the first doctor to be killed in the December 2018 revolution and his death was a turning point in the uprising as it brought about the attention and condemnation of international media. Locally the demonstrations and protests intensified.

Following his death, the first attempt of mass sit-in was undertaken as hundreds of protesters gathered in front of Royal Care Hospital where Dr Abdelhamid was transferred and later died.

This essay prize honours his bravery and the great sacrifice he made.
